

Dear Sirs,

I currently do not have XM radio in my house or my vehicle. But I have a very close friend who has this product.

She in turn has several family members who use it also, and find it very helpful when traveling across country (which is her husbands job), it is very helpful with the weather conditions, road conditions, ect., not to mention the music that she is able to listen to, and the broadcast across the United States.

I have upon occasion been in the car, and home and have had the opprotunity to listen to some of the broadcast. I am not sure of the name of the listing, but it includes old songs of Hank Williams Sr., and other old country favorites, that I was raised listening to as a child.

It provides the opprotunity for me to revist some of the songs that I listed to with my parents, who have long been deceased. If this opprotunity is taken away I feel that it is a great injustice. People pay for this service, one that isn't available through regular broadcasting.

I for one have traveled through many states on vacation, and have incurred the problem of not having music for my listening pleasure through public broadcasting, simply because it is not available, or the frequency can not get through the mountains. This is also a problem for road conditons, and weather when you are traveling.

At this point in time I am unable to afford this service, but in the future when financially able to incur this service, if it is taken away, I will have no other alternative.

I plead with you to reconsider this move, and let the XM Radio to continue in service. Sincerely, Marie Lauria
